Who I am

Hello I'm Dominic

I am currently a student in the Interactive Media Design program at Algonquin College. I have a passion for web development and an interest in web design and photography.
I had previously completed a semester in the Journalism and Computer Programming programs at Algonquin College before finding my goldilocks zone of programming and design in IMD, where I continue to learn and apply my knowledge in both school and personal projects.

Throughout my experiences I have learned and developed a variety of transferable and technical skills which will make me an asset to any team or project. Some of my skills include:

- HTML, CSS and some experience with Java
- Strong ability to adapt in new working environments
- Creation of low and high fidelity wireframes
- Strong analytical and detail-oriented approach to tasks
